This offer is for new residential SmartPAK customers and current SmartPAK customers who are upgrading their service. The Internet speed increase is from (up to) 6 Mbps to (up to) 15 Mbps. These promotions cannot be combined with any other promotion and expire January 15, 2015. The new service must be maintained for 12 months. If you should discontinue any service within the SmartPAK bundle, it will void this offer and result in the cost of the offer and the installation being billed back to your account. Golden West Internet speeds may vary based on network infrastructure and service availability. SmartPAKs may not be available in all areas. Leased modems, receivers and remotes remain the property of Golden West and must be returned if the service is canceled. The free installation doesn't include additional jacks. The monthly cost doesn't include local, state or federal charges or end-user fees. The Golden West Long Distance cycle runs from the 22nd of the month through the 21st of the following month and unused minutes do not carry over. This is an advertisement. Golden West shall not be held liable for errors or omissions in pricing. In the event of an error we will make every effort to accommodate our customers. Some restrictions may apply.

Stay Healthily Hydrated This Winter

(Family Features) When the mercury drops, it's more important than ever to stay properly hydrated. During the winter, people may not seem to sweat as much as in the summer, but that doesn't lessen one's risk of dehydration.

"As a hospital physician, I've seen far too many people succumb to dehydration-related health scares, stemming from high-elevation ski trips to travel to simply forgetting to drink water because it's cold outside," says Dr. Ralph E. Holsworth, director of clinical and scientific research for Essentia Water and medical physician at Southeast Colorado Hospital. "Staying properly hydrated can help ensure good health through the winter, reduce dry skin and even help you flush toxins out of your body to reduce the chances of getting a winter cold or flu."

Boost your body's hydration

Roughly 75 percent of the North American population is chronically dehydrated. By the time you feel thirsty (and sometimes when you don't) you may already be getting dehydrated. Whether you're skiing or just taking a walk on a brisk day, the experts at Essentia Water provide these simple tips to help you stay hydrated throughout the winter season and beyond.

•Set a daily water intake goal. A good rule of thumb for daily water intake from food and fluids is 2 liters for females and 2.5 liters for males with moderate physical activity levels. Adjust your personal goal to account for climate and activity level. Start your day by filling a tumbler or setting out bottles of your favorite water totaling your goal. Supplement with healthy foods that have high water content like soup, salad and pears.

•Winter it up. During cooler weather, chilled water isn't very enticing. To make it more appealing, warm a mug of water or add a burst of flavor from your favorite winter fruit like oranges, tangerines or cranberries. Drop in a cinnamon stick for an added flavor kick and enticing aroma.

•Check the mirror. A tried and true way to know if you're getting enough water is to check your mirror. If your skin appears dry and flaky, it's time to drink more fluids.

•Drink electrolyte-enhanced alkaline water (also called functional water). Wellness experts agree that disease and infection have a hard time thriving in an alkaline environment. High-pH water can help neutralize acid levels and restore your body to a natural state. Functional water, such as Essentia Water, the top selling alkaline water, can help you avoid or fight winter colds and flu, hydrate your skin and re-hydrate someone who is showing signs of dehydration.

•Pack the H20. From carrying a backpack to wearing a special hydration pack – it's important to bring water with you during winter outings. If you simply can't bring it with you, be sure you have a list of stores that offer bottled water, and keep a supply of it in your car's trunk for emergencies.

While you may not feel it, your body is in need of proper hydration even on the coldest winter days. For more tips for staying well, visit www.essentiawater.com.

The time of year has come! Most people are preparing for the Holiday season, but you can come to the gym and see the many preparations the high school girls are making for their upcoming basketball season. Coach Kier and I are happy to have nineteen girls out for the upcoming season.

We have three seniors, Emily Linn, Mattee Pauley, and Carlee Johnston leading the way with their hard work, dedication, and positive attitudes. We are looking forward to a season full of various successes as we kick it off with our first game on December 11th vs. Philip.

We have twelve home games this year, and we want to encourage the community to come out and support our team. Our goals are set and our season looks bright. Please come and rally behind the Wall Lady Eagles.

Best of Luck to all students and athletes!

By Coach Anderson

The Wall Eagles Boys Basketball Team took the floor for practice on December 1st with 17 players in attendance.

Carson Johnston, the only senior, is the only player on the team with varsity experience. Carson played quite a bit as a sophomore and also is the only returning starter from last year's team. Wall was hit hard by graduation last season.

Juniors who will be looking for playing time are Riley Fortune, Camden Sawvell, Rylee Schreiber, David Sykora and July Kammerer. Newcomer to the team this year is junior Raedon Anderson.

Sophomores who look to be pushing for varsity time are Carter Elshere, Allan McDonnell and Cass Lytle. Other sophomores who are challenging for spots on the varsity are Branden Hamann, Cody Huether, and Cameron Richter.

Freshmen on the team this year are Damion Bresee, Preston Eisenbraun, Tate Eisenbraun and Mason Sandal.

The Eagles have been practicing hard and with much enthusiasm. The Eagles have a new Head Coach this year in Kent Anderson and a new assistant coach as well in David Ermish. The Eagles have been focusing on the basics and fundamentals of basketball. It's a new system and a fresh attitude in the gym.

The Eagles are young and have little varsity experience but look to create problems for their opponents. They look to play with high intensity and exciting ball this season. Conference foes such as White River, Philip, and Rapid City Christian look to be the tough ones. There are no easy games in the conference this year, or on the schedule for the Eagles. They will need to play mistake free to challenge many opponents this season. We work to get better each day, each week, and each month. By the end of the season we hope to create problems for our opponents.

Francis Hodgeson Burnett's beloved story of A Little Princess comes to the Wall Stage as the Mighty Wall Players' entry into this year's South Dakota High School Activities Association One Act Play competition.

21 will portray the story of Sara Crewe (Autumn Deering) who dreams of being a princess and inspires her schoolmates with her courage, hope and optimism.

A Little Princess will be performed for the public on the Powerhouse Stage on Sunday, January 18, at 3:05 p.m., then will travel to the Region 7 Contest at Pierre Riggs High School on Wednesday, January 21.

The play is directed by Ron Burtz and Kathy Swan.

Girls' basketball looks to hit the hardwood

We started our first practice of season on November 24. The athletes and coaches are excited for the opportunity a new season brings in which there is a completely clean slate. We completed parent/athlete meetings along with individual meetings over the past two weeks, and have many players that are hoping to step into leadership roles this season while gaining valuable skills, experience, self-confidence, and fitness.

We are also excited to bring together a team that had a great amount of experience in terms of playing time last season with one solo senior (Taylor Merchen, whom will be missed) graduating. A sense of urgency, competitive greatness, team-first attitude, and identity will be vital to this year's ball club finding its direction early in this season. All athletes will be encouraged and work towards defining their specific niche/role on the team to help build a unit that has more success; compounded with each other's dedication and hard work, then would be produced as standalone individuals.

Our vision is to play an uptempo style of ball with a deep bench in which all athletes contribute by pushing themselves to maximum effort during their time on the court knowing that their teammate will do the same when given their chance. We also aim to play the game with respect towards opponents and officials and represent the great sport of basketball and excellent community of Kadoka to the best of our abilities while striving to truly compete in the right way. If you are able we would appreciate any and all community support at our games this season, we will do our best to make you all proud.

"Team Together" is our motto for the year: Together Effort Attitude More.

Gymnasts preparing for the season

Ready to start the season, the gymnasts have been practicing hard. Although it may be a small team this year, hopes are high and they are excited to start.

Returning to the team this year are Jerica Coller, AnnaBelle McIlravy, and Rheagan Zebrowski, who will bring some experience with them. Together they will work hard to encourage each other and raise the bar to compete strong.

The gymnasts compete on the vault, uneven bars, floor exercise, and balance beam. Each piece of equipment requires different strengths and techniques.

A team goal is for each member to qualify for the state meet. This will take hard work and dedication, which each gymnast is committed to.

From the coaches, they would like to see the girls grow in their confidence during competition, develop strong skills and support their love of gymnastics.

The team will host a meet in Wall on Friday, February 6.

No exercise brings into play all the muscles of the body in a more thorough manner, and none is more interesting than wrestling. He will find no other exercise more valuable in the cultivation of faculties which will help him to success in agility, strength, determination, coolness, and quick exercise of judgement.

- Hugh Leonard, Wrestling Coach - New York Athletic Club1897

The sport of wrestling is a tremendous builder of the values and characteristics which are needed to succeed in any walk of life. Much of what I have managed to achieve in life I owe directly to the years I spent in the wrestling room, as an athlete and a coach. Wrestling is a great educational tool.

Preparing for the season

The holidays are upon us and the Kougars are ready to start 2014 -2015 basketball season. Two new coaches are bringing excitement and new strengths to the Kadoka Area boys' basketball program. Karl Ireland and Chris Byrd will be the assistant coaches and are fired up to make this a fun year for the Kougars.

The team will be led by three seniors: Wyatt Enders, Aaron Janis, and Zach Stone. Four juniors: Jarrett VanderMay, Steven Kiewel, Bobby Anderson, and Dustin Enders. Three sophomores: Colby Enders, Storm Wilcox, and AJ Bendt and five freshman: Abe Herber, Patrick Brown, Reese Sudbeck, Peyton Loibl, and Denny Standing Soldier. It is a small group this year but a team that can gain a lot of experience which will be useful as the season progresses.

Good luck to the girls' basketball, gymnastics and wrestling teams as they begin their season as well. The boys will tip off their first game at Faith on December 13. Come cheer on the all the teams this winter and let's make it a great season. Go Kougars!

Finance Tips Every College Student Should Know

(Family Features) When the acceptance letter arrives from a college or university, it's cause for celebration. But it's also time to do some serious number crunching and take steps to mitigate potential education-related debt.

The Institute for College Access and Success (TICAS) estimates that the average student leaves higher education with a diploma in hand, and a debt load of more than $26,0001.

Even families who have saved for postsecondary education for years find themselves looking at ways to manage expenses as the cost of tuition, books and room and board add up. Exploring both traditional and non-traditional sources of financial aid can help make those mounting expenses more manageable.

Schedule a meeting with financial aid. As soon as you have settled on which school you'll attend, contact the financial aid office and request an appointment with an advisor. If you're within a drivable distance, it's a good idea to meet in person and develop a relationship with someone who can help you identify potential aid sources you might not have considered otherwise. Closer to home, do the same with your high school counselor, who can keep an eye open for scholarships that match your credentials.

Explore association scholarships. Many professional associations and member-based organizations offer competitive scholarship programs. Check with the major employers in your area, particularly any in your chosen field, to find out if they offer any scholarship or grants. You can also check with family members to determine what organizations they belong to and whether you are eligible for any funds. For example, Foresters™, an international financial services provider committed to family well-being, offers the Foresters Competitive Scholarship2, which awards up to 250 tuition scholarships worth up to $8,000 each for eligible members, their children and their grandchildren in the United States and Canada. Learn more about the scholarship opportunities awarded by Foresters at www.foresters.com.

File for federal aid. Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), even if you don't think your financial circumstances make you eligible for a grant. You may be surprised by what is available. In addition, research national grants such as Pell Grants that can help defray your expenses.

Secure a career-relevant job or internship. While classes, studying and enjoying a healthy social life are all important aspects of the college experience, gaining experience in your future career field is valuable too. Consult with your school's career center or an advisor in your area of study to uncover paid internship opportunities that will help you develop your resume and bolster your bank account.

Making the most of potential resources to pay for your degree lets you keep your focus squarely on your studies so your next big cause for celebration can be your college diploma.

Scottie hoopsters look forward to a great season

by Nancy Haigh

Philip Scotties basketball starts off the season with six returning seniors who look to capitalize on their experience.

With just one senior, Gavin Brucklacher, from last year lost to graduation the team has experience on its side. Seniors this year are Brody Jones, Ben Stangle, Kruse Bierle, Tristen Rush, Paul Guptill and Nelson Holman. All saw a lot of varsity action last year and each brings their own strong points to the team.

Juniors Jace Giannonatti, Chase Wright, Garrett Snook and Deontae Thorne will bring their strenth to the team as well.

Sophomores include Clayton Fosheim, Cooper West, Coy Kramer, Mark Stangle and Damian Bartels.

Joining the squad this year are freshmen Conner Dekker and Dawson Reedy.

Student managers and statisticians this year are seniors Katie Haigh and Jenny Johnston and sophomores Jaslyn Konst and Paige Slovek.

Head coach Bob Fugate, Sr. looks for the seniors to not only lead the team, but to bring their knowledge and skill of the game to the underclassmen. He noted that several of the younger players have seen varsity action and will easily be able to take over for the seniors if needed.

Fugate likes what he sees in his team, that they are unselfish and play as a team. Add to that their speed and that they like to run and it will bring some fast paced action to the court.

But, said Fugate, he thinks he and assistant coach Bob Fugate, Jr., may have to tone down the team's aggressiveness at times so they can slow down the game when needed.

Another focus is they need to step up the boxing out during rebounds.

Offensively Fugate looks to run man-to-man and some zones, depending on their opponents strengths and weaknesses. Defense is similar but he plans to add some press defense to the mix.

Rapid City Christian and White River will be tough match-ups this year, Fugate noted. White River has several seniors back and they have a strong junior varsity squad as well. Rapid City Christian is similar, but also has the advantage of a six foot eight inch player.

The Scotties' first game is Dec. 12, at home against Wall, at 6:00.

Home remedies to soothe cold and flu symptoms

by Lindsay Hutton
www.familyeducation.com

According to the National Institutes of Health, children get an average of six to 10 colds per year. Add that to flu season, and it can seem your child is always sick! Most cold and flu illnesses are viruses, meaning they can't be treated with antibiotics.

So, what's a concerned mom to do? The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) does not recommend giving over-the-counter cough and cold medicines to children under 4, so helping your child feel better naturally can be the best course of action. Read about some home remedies that might help, and comment with your own tips.

Chicken Soup

Your mom was right — chicken soup really is good for you when you are sick! According to the Mayo Clinic, chicken soup relieves cold symptoms, like aches, fatigue, and congestion, in two ways — it acts as an anti-inflammatory, and it temporarily speeds up the movement of mucous, helping to relieve congestion and limiting the amount of time the virus is in contact with the nose lining.

Other warm liquids, like lemon water or warmed apple juice, can also help relieve congestion and can be soothing to your child. A small amount of weak, lukewarm chamomile tea can also be given to children over 6 months

Honey

Honey coats and soothes sore throats and helps relieve coughing. The AAP recommends giving half a teaspoon to children ages two to five, one teaspoon to children ages six to 11, and two teaspoons to children ages 12 and up. Do not give honey to babies younger than 12 months.

Other soft foods like pudding, gelatin, ice cream, and popsicles are also good for relieving sore and scratchy throats, and good options to offer your child if he doesn't have an appetite for his regular diet.

Steam

Cold, dry air is where cold viruses thrive, which is why they are more common during the colder months of the year. Dry air also dries out your mucous membranes, which can cause a stuffy nose and scratchy throat.

Warm, humid air, such as the steam from a hot bath, can help loosen mucous in the nasal passages, making it easier for your child to breathe. A hot bath can also be relaxing and comforting to a sick child. For infants, sitting in a steamy bathroom before bedtime can help him breathe a little easier.

If you choose to use a humidifier, remember to change the water daily and clean it according to the manufacturer's instructions. Humidifiers can accumulate mold, bacteria, and fungi if they aren't cleaned properly, which is then sprayed in the air and can make your family sick.

Saline Drops and Sprays

Over-the-counter or homemade nasal drops and sprays are safe for children and can help relieve congestion and stuffy noses. They do not have a rebound effect (a worsening of symptoms when you stop using them) like nasal decongestants. If you have an infant, a stuffy nose can interfere with breastfeeding and bottle feeding, so it's best to use saline drops about 15 minutes before a feeding.

To make your own saline drops, boil eight ounces of tap or distilled water to eliminate any bacterial impurities and dissolve about half a teaspoon of salt in it. Let it cool, store in an airtight container, and make a new batch every day.

To use, tilt your child's head back, put a few drops in one nostril, and leave for about 30 seconds. For babies, use a bulb syringe to suction out the liquid.

Salt Water

Gargling a mixture of a salt (about a quarter to a half teaspoon) and eight ounces of warm water can help temporarily relieve a sore or scratchy throat and loosen mucous. Aim to have your child gargle three to four times per day when she is sick.

This treatment is best for children four years or older, since gargling can be tricky and unpleasant for young kids. Have your child practice with plain water, and teach her to spit it out instead of swallowing it when she is done

Extra Fluids

Excessive coughing, sneezing, vomiting, and diarrhea can cause your child to lose fluids and become dehydrated, so it's important to make sure your child is getting enough liquids. Staying hydrated can also help loosen mucous and reduce congestion.

Water, clear broth, 100 percent fruit juice, smoothies, and other healthy beverages are all good options for your child. If your child is less than six months old, continue feeding him breastmilk or formula unless otherwise directed by his doctor.

Avoid caffeinated beverages, such as soda, as these can make dehydration worse. Contact your child's doctor if he isn't drinking fluids or you feel his dehydration isn't improving or becoming worse.

Plenty of Rest

Fighting an illness takes a lot of energy, so it's important that your child stays rested as she recovers. Quiet activities, such as coloring, reading, puzzles, and even a little television, are all good ways to keep your sick child occupied without overexerting her.

Sportsmanship – compete with character and win in every game

www.thecoachdiary.com/ Irish Grassroots Football

Character is formed by doing the thing we are supposed to do, when it should be done, whether we feel like doing it or not."

What can we do to change some of the things in our game!

The best atmosphere for young people is one that focuses on their needs and wants and not those of their coaches and parents. The ideal setting in any sport is one in which:

Good character is a priority.

Practices and games are fun.

Good sportsmanship and positive behaviours are the norm for players, coaches and spectators.

Shake hands before and after each game

Players and athletes learn valuable life skills.

Coaches and parents are not frustrated.

A cooperative and positive relationship exists between coaches and parents.

There is good communication between players, coaches and parents.

Kids come First

Coaches and parents need to remember to put kids first. No matter what level kids are playing at – international, elite, recreational, club or school – teaching good sportsmanship and forming good character should lead off your lineup.

Adults teach sportsmanship and help build good character by modeling it themselves. Kids watch how adults act, not just listen to what they say. Unfortunately, children are increasingly exposed to poor behavior in professional and other televised sports, teams against whom they compete, overzealous coaches on the sidelines, unruly parents – even on the playground at school.

Parents and coaches are ideally placed to counteract these poor examples of sportsmanship. Consider the following list:

A list of To-Do things for better Sportsmanship

Model appropriate behavior.

Discuss examples of poor sportsmanship when they occur on TV, etc.

Discuss ways to exhibit good sportsmanship (e.g., helping opponents up after they have fallen or get hurt from a tackle).

Reinforce that winning is not the sole goal of sports (e.g., ask kids if they had fun or performed something well before asking if they won).

Offer examples of how players can be good winners and losers. (TV or even watching a friend etc)

Encourage kids to discuss sportsmanship as a team; make it a key objective of the team's success.

Talk to the coach to make sure he or she stresses sportsmanship over winning, too

"If you put your effort and concentration into playing to your potential, I don't care what the scoreboard says at the end of the game. In my book, we're gonna be winners! OK?"

Coach Norman Dale in "Hoosiers"

Go! Fight! Win!

Best Wishes in all your upcoming winter activities!

Grapplers take on the toughest challenges

by Nancy Haigh

A new year of challenging matches awaits the Philip Area wrestling team as they continue to take on top quality teams across South Dakota.

Heading the team of 19 wrestlers are returning varsity members senior Jed Brown, Kadoka, juniors Rance Johnson and Grady Carley, Philip, and sophomores Nick Donnelly, Philip, and Geoffrey DeVries, Kadoka, freshmen Keagan Fitch, and Kaylor Pinney, Philip, and eighth grader Hunter Peterson, Philip.

A strong group of freshmen will add their skills to team points. They are Bryan Letellier, Seth Patterson, Stanley Colberts and Jory Rodgers, Kadoka, and from Wall, Trey Elshere. Cash Wilson, Wall is the sole eighth grader.

Seventh graders filling the weights include Richie Lamont and Greyson DeVries, Kadoka, and Colby Fitch and Victor Dennis, Philip.

Student manager is freshman Madyson Morehart.

Wrestlers who led the team last year were then seniors, Lane Blasius, Wall, Reed Johnson, Philip and Kadoka's Logan Ammons, Chandlier Sudbeck and Gavin DeVries.

In 2013 and 2014 Philip Area took the runner-up spot at the State B wrestling tournament. This past spring Philip sent 11 wrestlers to state, placing six in the top five positions, three of whom return this season.

Blasius was state champion in the 152 pound class and ended the season with a 47-1 record. In second place were Sudbeck at 170 pounds 47-3, Brown at 126 pounds, 41-8 and Rance Johnson at 132 pounds and 40-10. Logan Ammons took third at 220 pounds, 32-9 while Nick Donnelly was fifth at 138 pounds and finished with a 39-12 record.

Others who made it to state last year included Peterson at 106 pounds with a 33-15 record, Keagan Fitch at 113 pounds, 21-20 record, Kaylor Pinney at 145 pounds and 33-18 for the year, Reed Johnson at 160 pounds 35-15, and Grady Carley at 182 pounds and 36-18.

Head coach Matt Donnelly said he looks for Hot Springs and Stanley County to be tough competition in Region 4B this year. Other teams in the region are Bennett County, Custer, Harding County, Hill City, Lead-Deadwood, Lemmon/McIntosh, Lyman, McLaughlin, Mobridge-Pollock, Newell, Potter County, Red Cloud, St. Thomas More and Sully Buttes.

Assistant coach is Keven Morehart.

A change in the schedule this year has the team switching out the Valentine, Neb., tournament for the Hot Springs Invitational.

The wrestlers started their varsity season off with a Dec. 6 trip to Kimball for the Kimball-White Lake Invitational Tournament. The junior varsity wrestlers headed to the Red Cloud Invitational that same day.

How to score a wrestling match

Takedown = 2 Pts. From the neutral position, when one wrestler takes the other wrestler down to the mat and controls him from the top, a takedown is scored – 2 Pts.

Reversal = 2 Pts. When a wrestler is on the bottom in the referee's position and reverses his opponent to the top in the referees position, a reversal is scored – 2 Pts.

Escape = 1 Pt. When a wrestler is on the bottom in the referee's position and escapes to the neutral position without reversing the top man, an escape is scored – 1 Pt.

Near Fall (back points/exposure) = 2 Pts. When the bottom wrestler has his back exposed to the mat on an angle of 45 degrees or less for a count of at least 2 seconds, but less than 5 seconds, a 2 Pt. near fall is scored.

Near Fall (back points/exposure) = 3 Pts. When the bottom wrestler has his back exposed to the mat on an angle of 45 degrees or less for a count of 5 seconds or more a 3 Pt. near fall is scored.

Penalty Points can be awarded to the opponent of the wrestler in violation of certain rules and conduct.

• Stalling (one or both wrestlers not initiating action or one wrestler being totally defensive and backing away from opponent) – Initially a warning, followed by penalty of 1 Pt., with each additional incident incurring penalties of 1 Pt. – 2 Pts. – 2 Pts. – Disqualification.

• False Start/Illegal Start Position (starting before the whistle blows, top or bottom wrestler not aligned in the proper referee's position) – 2 warnings, followed by 1 Pt. penalties for each additional incident – No Disqualification.

-Clasping (top wrestler clasping hands together without having the bottom wrestler on his back) – Immediate 1 Pt. penalty. Each additional incident is followed by incurring penalties of 1 Pt. – 2 Pts. – 2 Pts. – Disqualification.

Illegal Holds (full nelson, figure 4 the body, scissor the head, headlock without the opponent's arm, etc.) – Immediate 1 Pt. penalty. Each additional incident is followed by incurring penalties of 1 Pt. – 2 Pts. – 2 Pts. – Disqualification.

Technical Violations (grasping uniform/headgear, improper equipment (i.e. no headgear), fleeing the mat, unsportsmanlike conduct, unnecessary roughness) – Immediate 1 Pt. penalty. Each additional incident is followed by incurring penalties of 1 Pt. – 2 Pts. – 2 Pts. – Disqualification.

Cause for Ejection Penalties – Gross misconduct, slamming or any illegal move that injures an opponent. That injury defaults the match.

Overtime Scoring – A winner must be declared in all individual matches. If a match is tied at the end of regulation, the following overtime scoring system is used in order, until a winner is declared.

• 1 minute sudden death period (first person to score wins).

Two 30 second tie breakers (wrestlers swap referee's positions). If match is still tied, it goes to a ride-out.

• 30 second ride-out (wrestler who scored first has the choice in referee's position). If wrestler escapes from bottom position, he wins. If he is ridden-out for the 30 seconds, he loses.

• Team Scoring System – A wrestling team scores points via the results of individual wrestler's matches.

• 6 Pts. – Wrestler wins by pin or forfeit, injury default, disqualification of the opponent.

• 5 Pts. – Wrestler wins by technical fall (lead of 15 Pts. during the match)

• 4 Pts. – Wrestler wins by major decision (point spread of between 8 and 14 pts.).

• 3 Pts. – Wrestler wins by regular decision (7 points or less)

Teams can also be penalized team points for unsportsmanlike conduct and other violations of the individual wrestlers or the coaching staff.

Speed and heart define Lady Scotties

by Nancy Haigh

Youth offset by speed and heart sums up the Lady Scotties basketball team this year.

With just two returning seniors, the Lady Scotties will see several younger teammates stepping up to varsity. Seniors Justina Cvach and Ashton Reedy both have seen varsity action in the past. Head coach Karmen Marbry looks for them use that to help lead the team. Also stepping up in leader roles she said, are sophomores Shay Hand and Tia Guptill, who she looks to aid in leading the offense. Junior Ellie Coyle will bring her experience to the leadership role as well. Libbi Koester and Ta'Te Fortune are also juniors.

Underclassmen on the team are sophomores Dominique Simon, Ashley Williams and Sammie Schofield and freshmen Jada Jones, Jaisa Snyder, Anna Piroutek and Kobie Davis.

Stepping into student manager positions this year are freshman Payton Schoenhals and sophomore Molly Coyle.

The experience from last season's seniors of Bailey Radway, Madison Hand, Jordyn Dekker and Kaci Olivier will be missed. But, Marbry said, S. Hand and Guptill had quite a bit of varsity experience last year.

Marbry is looking to improve on last year's season record of 9-15. Part of that is working on communication within the team and building team unity, something that was lacking last year.

With the majority of the team being underclassmen, some of them will look to improve so they can slip into a varsity spot.

Jones County looks to be the toughest team for the Lady Scotties this year. Marbry said they have kept most of their best players and have posted some very good seasons recently.

She looks at New Underwood being tough in the district as they have quite a few returning players as well.

Stepping in as assistant coach is Casey Jore.

Marbry knows the inexperience of her young team will be a disadvantage, but with their heart, and some speed thrown in as well, she knows they can become a great team.

Great motivational sports speeches

Great moments are born from great opportunity.

And that's what you have here tonight, boys.

That's what you've earned here, tonight.

One game.

If we played 'em 10 times, they might win nine.

But not this game. Not tonight.

Tonight, we skate with 'em.

Tonight, we stay with 'em, and we shut them down because we can!

Tonight, we are the greatest hockey team in the world.

You were born to be hockey players — every one of ya.

And you were meant to be here tonight.

This is your time.

Their time—is done. It's over.

I'm sick and tired of hearin' about what a great hockey team the Soviets have. .....

This is your time!! -

Pregame speech coach Herb Brooks gave to the U.S. men's national hockey team prior to their gold medal game against the USSR in the 1980 Olympics

"It is not the critic who counts: not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood, who strives valiantly, who errs and comes up short again and again, because there is no effort without error or shortcoming, but who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, who spends himself for a worthy cause; who, at the best, knows, in the end, the triumph of high achievement, and who, at the worst, if he fails, at least he fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who knew neither victory nor defeat.

As I close – the game of basketball has been everything to me. My refuge. My place I've always gone when I needed to find comfort and peace. It's been a source of intense pain, and a source of most intense feelings of joy and satisfaction. And one that no one can even imagine. It's been a relationship that has evolved over time, and given me the greatest respect and love for the game. It has provided me with a platform to share my passion with millions in a way I neither expected nor could have imagined in my career. I hope that it's given the millions of people that I've touched, the optimism and the desire to achieve their goals through hard-work, perseverance, and positive attitude. Although I'm recognized with this tremendous honor of being in the basketball Hall of Fame – I don't look at this moment as a defining end to my relationship with the game of basketball. It's simply a continuation of something that I started a long time ago. One day you might look up and see me playing the game at 50. (laughs) Oh don't laugh. Never say never. Because limits, like fears are often just an illusion.

What Am I?

1. I tower over the man-made plain; My peaks scrape the heavens.
   I have many brothers; in fact, We may be as many as a hundred and seven.

   We're as ancient as the oldest trees, But not older than the hills.
   We've been studied for centuries now, But with mystery we're still filled.

   What am I?

2. I have streets but no pavement, I have cities but no buildings,
   I have forests but no trees, I have rivers yet no water.
   What am I?

3. I am small as an ant and big as a whale, I can soar through the air like a bird with a tail. I can be seen by day and not by night, I can be seen with a big flash of light. I follow whoever controls me by the sun, but I fade away when dark fell like a ton.
   What am I?

4. I come once in a minute, twice in a momentum, but never in a thousand years.
   What am I?

5. I always run, but never walk. I have a bed, but I don't sleep. I have a mouth, but I don't eat.
   What am I?

6. When you put this in a heavy wooden box, the box will become lighter.
   What am I?

7. You hear my sound, You feel me when I move, but see me you never will.
   What am I?

8. The more I dry, the wetter I get.
   What am I?

9. I am very heavy, but backwards, I'm not.
   What am I?

10. A cowboy rides into town on Friday. He stays to days, then leaves on Saturday.
    How can this be?

Jones County Coyote Boys' basketball team

After three seasons as assistant coach, my first season as head coach is underway. This year we return with five seniors who all have a lot of varsity experience, Connor Venard, who missed most of his Junior year with a broken ankle, Dylan Kinsley, Wyatt Weber, John King and Cody Hight. Our players spent a lot of time working on their games this summer, Connor Venard and Wyatt Weber both played on the 'Niners' traveling team, and they played in the White River summer league.

This group of seniors went undefeated on the junior varsity as sophomores so they know how to work hard and play together. I don't expect us to go undefeated by any means this season but we should be very competitive and will have to continue to work hard to keep up with our neighbors to the south.

Since we don't have any juniors on the team our sophomores, Dalton Kinsley, Zach Hespe, Reed and Austin Venard will have to rise the challenge of being a valuable part of the rotation. We have some young players in the eighth and ninth grade who will get a lot of playing time on the junior varsity and could work their way up to the varsity rotation if they work hard and continue to develop their skills.

David Geisler

Jones County Lady Coyotes' basketball team

The Jones County Lady Coyotes are ready to start another exciting basketball season. The girls have put in a lot of time this past summer attending team camps and laying summer league basketball games. In practice they have been working hard getting in shape so they can play the up tempo type of basketball they have come a custom to playing.

We have many returning letter winners returning from last year's squad. The team will be led by seniors Madison Mathews, Kalli Hespe, Carol Drayer and Rachel Buxcel. Also juniors Calli Glaze, Garline Boni, Julie Joseph, Alexis Hullinger and Melyssa Manecke will play a huge role in the success of the team. Sophomores Haley Booth, Hannah Hight and Jami Addison will compete for varsity minutes as will freshman Savannah Krogman, Emily Flynn and Molly Dowling.

The team has set some big goals for this coming season and with the support of parents, relatives, fans and their continued hard work on the court anything is possible!
